I moved to Chicago in 2000, met with some cool carts who had been in the music business since the early 90's, and particularly Aroc (aka Adam Jackson) who inspired me to start making beats. I started out with the Propellor Head program called Reason, and it all started from there, my style and skill progressed from there. I then honed my skills to the point where artists began purchasing my beats for like 50, 60 buks, youknow and i would give away beats to small unsigned artists who just wanted some hot beats, or dance groups in the Chi to help them intro dance contests and things, and when i left the Chi i continued to make beats in NC, in which where i lived there was not alot of opportunity to get on making beats. My friends and my brother and cousins, would tell me that I had some nice beats and that I should pursue my art, so New Year 2009, I went back to Chicago to hang out for New Year. My boy Aroc (Adam Jackson) to me to 3327 N. Beach st in Hombolt Park, Chicago, Il. and I ended up meeting with Cortez (an industry cat), and Steve Maestro a producer who has made beats for artists like Bump J, and he said that he would introduce me to the guy who heads up Patchwrk studios in ATL, so he wanted me to contact his artist who would be in ATL on the following sunday, so I hopped a bus to ATL, and this is where I am, I have affiliation with Picaso of the Def Jam West Coast outfit and FTB Records, headed by Cato/Khato Kelly out of Troy,NC. So right now we are establishing a head quarters here in ATL as i speak, so now lets see what develops from here.....
